ANNOUNCING...

Rapid Communications

for original, high impact research

In an exciting new development, Journal of Endocrinology will now publish Rapid Communications.

- Reviewed and published online in as little as two weeks from submission!
- Original, high impact research papers representing significant advances in endocrine science.

Rapid Communications will benefit from fast formal peer review and if accepted the paper will move rapidly to online publication within 2 weeks followed by print publication in the next available issue.

Author guidelines can be found at http://joe.endocrinology-journals.org/

To submit your paper to Rapid Communications please send an abstract and covering letter explaining the need for rapid communication to the Editor-in-Chief. Email: joe@endocrinology.org